‘Shaun of the Dead’ team back with new spoof

CRITIC'S CORNER
By DNA Smith

"Hot Fuzz"
Running time: 120 minutes
MPAA rating: R

Here's the short version: If you liked "Shaun of the Dead," you'll like "Hot Fuzz."

Long version: The same guys, Edgar Wright (writer/director) and Simon Pegg (writer/star), who gave us the best zombie movie spoof ever, have turned their sights onto the Michael Bay/Jerry Bruckheimer "supercop" genre -- with equally hilarious results.

Unlike American-style spoofs like "Scary Movie" that try to re-create specific scenes and shots from popular films, "Hot Fuzz" takes a different approach by using black humor and wit while capturing the look and feel of the genre. This doesn't mean that Pegg & Co. are above a cheap laugh (they aren't), but they don't rely on it.

The film stars Pegg as Nick Angel, a London supercop whose arrest rate is 400 percent higher than any other cop on the force. Because he's making the rest of the department look incompetent, he's transferred to a sleepy, picturesque country hamlet called Sandford, which hasn't had a suspicious death in 20 years, a crime rate that's virtually nil, but an accident rate that is disturbingly high -- a fact that leads Angel into a web of conspiracy and intrigue ... and murders most foul.

His partner, Danny Butterman (Nick Frost) dreams of being a supercop like the ones in his massive DVD collection, which is packed with titles like "Bad Boys II" and "Point Break." Together, the pair investigate a series of "accidental" deaths preceding the annual Best Village Award judging.

Fans of British TV and films will also get a treat by the number of stellar cameos in the film. Steve Coogan, Bill Nighy, Martin Freeman and others make appearances and thoroughly chew up the scenery.

"Hot Fuzz" is definitely worth a look.

GRADE: B+

Edgar Wright (writer/director) and Simon Pegg (writer/star), the duo that created "Shaun of the Dead," are back with the 70’s super-cop spoof, "Hot Fuzz."

Photography show to benefit ARC

The 14th annual juried art show of the Wide Angle Photo Club is seeking photography entries.

Photographers from throughout the area, regardless of experience, may submit as many photos as they wish with an entry fee of $10 per photo. Contest rules, awards, and entry forms are available online at www.wideanglephotoclub.org.

The date for delivering photos, forms and entry fees is July 7. The show dates are July 20-22 at the Wright Place in Pensacola.

The Wide Angle Photo Club is a not-for-profit organization of persons interested in the photographic arts. Most members live in Escambia and Santa Rosa Counties. Meetings are held on the second Monday of each month at 7:00 P.M. at ARC Gateway, 3908 North Tenth Avenue, Pensacola, Fla. Thursday

7 p.m. on NBC

My Name Is Earl: Earl (Jason Lee) gets to walk a mile in the sensible shoes of a high-school teacher in this new episode. No, he’s not teaching school; he’s gone back as a student in pursuit of the diploma he never got. When he sees how some of his young classmates behave — just the way he did when he was their age — he gains a new appreciation for his teachers. Ethan Suplee also stars in “GED.”

Friday

9 p.m. on CBS

NUMB3RS: He’s got nothing to lose ... or does he? In the new episode “The Act of Reckoning,” a mob hit man, now on death row, decides he wants to spill the beans about where his victims’ bodies are buried. It looks like a perfect opportunity to thaw out some cold cases, but Don (Rob Morrow) suspects the prisoner is motivated by something more than a desire to clear his conscience. David Krumholtz also stars.

Saturday

7 p.m. on ABC

Pearl Harbor: Did you watch “Titanic” just to see the boat sink and ignore the sappy love story? Consider taking the same approach to this 2001 drama. Director Michael Bay’s re-creation of the 1941 Japanese attack on the Hawaiian military base is some of the most effective war-movie footage since “Saving Private Ryan.” Just pay no attention to the S.L.S. about two pilots (Ben Affleck, Josh Hartnett) in love with the same woman (Kate Beckinsale).

Monday

8 p.m. on FOX

24: Taking things into his own hands proves to have serious consequences for Jack (Kiefer Sutherland) in the new episode “Day 6: 1:00AM — 2:00AM” Audrey’s (Kim Raver) time in captivity causes an apparent post-traumatic stress reaction. The administration gets a disturbing message from the Russian president (Nick Jameson).

Tuesday

7 p.m. on FOX

American Idol: Will someone be told, “You give music a bad name”? Probably not, but anything is possible when Bon Jovi is around. Jon Bon Jovi and his band are this week’s special guests, offering performing tips to the five remaining contestants and doing a song of their own. Of course, Simon, Paula and Randy will have their say, but as always, who goes home is up to America.

Wednesday

9 p.m. on ABC

Lost: Someone’s gonna get it in the new episode “The Brig.” Locke (Terry O’Quinn) manages to get away from the Others and asks Sawyer (Josh Holloway) to team up with him and eliminate a common enemy. A new resident has a shocking revelation about Flight 815. Naveen Andrews, Evangeline Lilly and Dominic Monaghan also star.
