Driveway full of bicycles brings back memories

I noticed a clutter of bikes lying in the driveway of a nearby home the other day, and I smiled as I remembered the cluster of bikes in my own yard, so many years ago. There was the time that my small daughter learned one of life's lessons the hard way with her own bicycle.

She had been riding with a neighbor's child up and down the big hills near the lake where we lived when they decided to stop at the boy's home for a drink. They deposited their bikes on the lawn near the driveway while they went inside.

It seems that the boy's mother, a Mrs. H, shortly thereafter got into her car and, without looking, backed out of the garage up over the lawn and ran over my daughter's bike. It ended up with a bent frame and was beyond repair. She was broken-hearted because she was so proud of her shiny, gold two-wheel bike, a gift for her birthday.

She was even more shocked to learn that the boy's mother denied culpability and told my husband and me that she had left it in the middle of the driveway herself.

When my daughter came home she said, "But Mom, why would she say that when it isn't true? I thought grownups never lied!"

I had to admit that maybe we all have to learn some things the hard way. And, as mothers, we all learn growing up is hard to do.

If you are looking for something 'upscale' to do, Alzheimer's Family Services spring fundraising event, 'Mozart and Margaritas,' will be on Friday, May 4th, at the Pensacola Yacht Club. Here's your chance to do a good deed while having a great time - and high-toned too! For more information call Alzheimer's Family Services at 478-7790.

Picking some spring beauties by the side of the road today, I was reminded of an April vacation I spent at my grandfather's rectory during a very special time on his church's calendar. My younger sister and I always seemed to be chosen to sing a duet, which I fear may have had more to do with his being the minister than with our musical talents.

Nevertheless, we put our hearts into the appropriate music, and I still remember the first stanza of the song to this day:

The little flowers came through the ground
At Easter time, at Easter time
The raised their heads and looked around at happy Easter time.

As I think about it, I have to admit that the song would seem very sappy today, even to little girls.

Well, when I got home I chose a vase from the closet for the flowers. Those Easters and my grandparents are long gone, but the flowers keep coming back, and I still have the memories. How about you?

Some more quotables:
Making mistakes simply means you are learning faster.

A sense of humor is just common sense, dancing.

See you next week!

You can win, but you can't lose with this bridge hand

In bridge, the participants see only 26 cards when the play starts and not the 52 cards seen in the diagram. Naturally, seeing only 26 cards, they might not play their cards as perfectly as if they saw all four hands. Being human, they might err.

The declarer, and the defenders likewise, frequently trade upon this deficiency. They sometimes make plays they would not make if all 52 cards were in plain view, and they do this because they might induce a mistake by the opponents.

Consider this deal where South stole the contract by making an unnatural play. West led the ace and another trump. Declarer, after sizing up his chances, won the second trump in dummy, cashed the ace of spades and returned a low spade toward his hand.

East assumed from this line of play that declarer had a singleton spade and therefore played low instead of going up with the king. South won with the jack and eventually established dummy's fifth spade as a trick to finish with 11 tricks in all.

Now let's suppose declarer had won the heart in his hand at trick two and led the jack of spades for a finesse, as most players would do. In that case, East would have taken the king and returned a club to put South down one.

The beauty of South's play is that it gives him a chance to make the contract regardless of where the king of spades is located. If West has it, the hand is sure to make because dummy's queen becomes established for a vital club discard.

If East has the king, then it is just as well not to attempt the losing finesse. In fact, it is much better to cash the ace and lead toward the jack because East has a chance to go wrong.

It is true that South might cost himself 30 points if it turns out that West has the king of spades, but who wouldn't pay a 30-point premium to ensure a game?
