'Michael Clayton' thrills audiences

Critic's Corner
By DNA Smith
"Michael Clayton"
Running Time: 120 minutes
MPAA rating: R

When I saw the poster and previews for "Michael Clayton," I had no idea what this movie was supposed to be about. In fact, it looked kind of dull. But, I'm a fan of George Clooney, so I took a chance.

I'm glad I did. "Michael Clayton" is one of the better dramas I've seen this year. It's well-written, the performances are great and the direction is top-notch.

Clooney stars as Michael Clayton, a "janitor" for a prestigious New York law firm. Whenever a high-profile client gets in trouble, Clayton is called in to clean up the mess by whatever means necessary.

Clayton gets a call because another "janitor" in his firm who has been representing a major chemical company has gone crazy and stripped naked during a deposition. It turns out that the chemical company is fighting a class-action lawsuit because it has been selling a farming chemical that it knows causes cancer. The crazy lawyer has in his possession a confidential internal memo confirming this, and if made public, it could destroy the company.

George Clooney stars as a prestigious lawyer in "Michael Clayton."

Tilda Swinton plays an executive for the chemical company. She doesn't have faith in Clayton's firm to adequately represent her company, so she hires a couple "janitors" of her own. Serious men. Men who have no reservations about taking a life (or lives) if it means their clients get off squeaky clean.

"Michael Clayton" was written and directed by Tony Gilroy, the screenwriter of the Bourne films. Gilroy knows how to build a taut thriller, and for his first time in the director's chair he does a great job in keeping the story moving.

If you were like me and confused by the film's marketing of this movie, do yourself a favor and check out "Michael Clayton." I think you'll be pleasantly surprised by how good it is.

GRADE: B+

Scrubs: Parenthood — ain't it fun? As Kim (Elizabeth Banks) goes into labor, she and J.D. (Zach Braff) wonder if they're doing the right thing. Cox (John C. McGinley) has his own parental angst when his daughter needs a shot and he doesn't want to administer it. Turk and Carla (Donald Faison, Judy Reyes) try to get a distraction out of their system so they can focus on their child. Ken Jenkins also stars in the new episode "My Hard Labor."

Friday
7 p.m. on FOX

The Next Great American Band: It's top 10 time. Will one of these bands wind up with a top-10 hit down the road? That's up to you. In this new two-hour episode, the field is narrowed down to 10 bands, who show their stuff to the judges and the viewers in hopes of winning enough votes to stick around another week. Dominic Bowden hosts, with Johnny Rzeznik, Sheila E. and Ian "Dicko" Dickson on the judges' panel.

Saturday
9 p.m. on MAX

Night at the Museum: Exhibits come to life at the Museum of Natural History, much to the alarm of a security guard (Ben Stiller) who finds himself the target of extinct creatures, in director Shawn Levy's hugely popular comedy-fantasy. Beyond the plentiful, well-executed special effects, the picture is notable for the solid roles it gives a couple of true showbiz veterans: Dick Van Dyke and Mickey Rooney. Robin Williams, Ricky Gervais, Carla Gugino and Kim Raver also appear.

Sunday
7:30 p.m. on FOX

Family Guy: Happy hundredth, Griffin gang! The series celebrates its 100th episode — which airs after this — with a new clip show reminiscing about the adventures of Peter, Lois, Chris, Meg, Brian and Stewie to date. Of course, whittling all those musical numbers, pop-culture satires and just plain funny bits down to a select few must have been difficult, as this show has had more hits than misses. Enjoy!

Monday
8 p.m. on PBS

American Masters: Aren't you glad you had that time together? The new episode "Carol Burnett: A Woman of Character" profiles the multitalented funny lady who mugged, sang and Tarzan-yelled her way into America's hearts for so many years. You probably won't be surprised to learn that like so many other clowns, Burnett had a rough childhood, which shows in the humanity she brought to the otherwise cartoonish characters she played on the small screen.

Wednesday
7 p.m. on ABC

The 41st Annual CMA Awards: Rascal Flatts could join a very elite group of groups at this year's CMA Awards. The band is nominated for the entertainer of the year award, which has only been given to two other groups — Alabama and the Dixie Chicks — in the past. The competition for that honor includes George Strait, Kenny Chesney and Keith Urban, who, along with Rascal Flatts and — drum roll — the Eagles, are scheduled to perform on the show.
